It is our mission to provide services, programs and resources to individuals with MS to help them improve the quality of their life and achieve greater hope, health and independence.

The second Sunday of May can come as late as May 14th — halfway through the month, giving families plenty of time to plan Mother's Day. This year, however, it falls on the eighth. It will be here before we know it! Many families have been caught off guard and are scrambling to pick out cards or make a quick brunch reservation. But not the Menjivars.

Ed Menjivar is an active client with the MS Alliance, joining in group discussions and educational programs, and lifting everyone's spirits with his humorous posts on the MSA Facebook page. His mother, Martha, has enjoyed watching him reengage with the world this way. After two years of Covid lockdowns, on top of the isolating effects of MS, Martha's son now is returning to his old self. What more could a mother want?

So this Mother's Day, Ed and his father are surprising Martha by making a generous donation to the MS Alliance of Southern Colorado in her honor. The Menjivar men will present Martha with the certificate shown on page two. At the MSA, we are truly humbled by this gift. It will go toward the programs and services that benefit Ed and so many others in our community. And while the Menjivars are honoring Martha, their gift will be giving mothers all across Southern Colorado the gift of their children returning to their old selves. ✨
