Businessman, Photographer,
Philanthropist

Originally a mathematician from Hettinger, ND, Mike Tanous moved to Colorado Springs with his family in 1974 where he served as vice president for several defense contractors. In 1994, he started the first of a series of businesses focused on systems management, leadership consulting and photography. He was a lifelong birdwatcher and photographer whose work has been exhibited many times over the years.

His philanthropical efforts lead Mike to serve on an array of boards and committees, most notably the University of Colorado engineering advisory committee and the Board of Directors for the Multiple Sclerosis Alliance of Southern Colorado.
