

CHRISTEN F. KUTZ

PhD, PA-C
Associates

Christen Kutz has been a neurology PA since 2000. She graduated from Lehigh University with a degree in Biology, De Sales University with a master's degree in physician assistant studies, and Nova Southeastern University with a PhD in Health Science.

Christen enjoys seeing all neurological conditions but has a special interest in Multiple Sclerosis and neuro-immunological disorders. She has experience administering Botox injections and nerve blocks. She has also been an investigator in almost 100 clinical trials and is published in numerous medical journals. Christen is on the board of directors for the Brain Health Center of the Rockies which offers free wellness coaching opportunities for neurological patients.

In her free time, she enjoys spending time with her husband and daughters, as well as attending sporting events. Fun fact is she owns an alpaca farm.
